

Dr. Deepa M. Ollapally
Research Professor of International Affairs and Associate Director, Sigur Center for Asian Studies
Elliott School of International Affairs, George Washington University

Deepa M. Ollapally is Research Professor of International Affairs and the Associate Director of the Sigur Center for Asian Studies at the Elliott School of International Affairs, George Washington University. She also directs the Rising Powers Initiative at the Sigur Center.

She is a specialist on Indian foreign policy, Asian regional security, and comparative foreign policy outlooks of rising powers. Her most recent book is Worldviews of Aspiring Powers: Domestic Foreign Policy Debates in China, India, Iran, Japan and Russia (Oxford University Press, 2012). Another volume, Nuclear Debates in Asia is forthcoming from Rowman & Littlefield in 2016. She is completing a new book on Energy Security Worldviews in Asia. She also authored The Politics of Extremism in South Asia (Cambridge University Press, 2008). She has published extensively in journals such as Foreign Affairs, Asian Survey, The National Interest and Political Science Quarterly.

Dr. Ollapally has received major grants from MacArthur, Rockefeller and Carnegie Corporation for projects related to India and Asia. She served on the Board of Directors of Women in International Security, Washington D.C., and is an Advisory Council Member for Women in Security, Conflict Management and Peace, Delhi.

She is a frequent commentator in the media, including appearances on CNN, BBC, CBS, PBS and Reuters TV. She holds a Ph.D. in Political Science from Columbia University.